

SOUTH AFRICAN INVADERS OUT OF ANGOLA!

South African military forces during the past months have mounted a massive invasion of Angola using as a base Namibia which it illegally occupies.

The Apartheid Regime is determined to maintain white supremacy in Southern Africa and to extend its domination wider over the African continent. The South African racists are the enemies of Africa and a threat to peace. Their racist philosophy is in essence the same as Nazism which plunged the whole world into war a generation ago.

The Apartheid regime has intervened in Angola because they believe they have a right to decide the future of Angola for the Angolan people and are determined to prevent the coming to power of a government committed to the on-going struggle for freedom in Southern Africa.

Reports that South Africa is withdrawing from Angola have proved to be false. Indeed the Pretoria regime has clearly stated that its troops will defend the Cunene Dam and continue 'border operations'. Now there are reports of British mercenaries flying out to Angola.

There can be no peace in Angola until South Africa ends its aggression. International pressure must be mounted to secure South Africa's withdrawal. So far the British government has taken no effective action and even refused to take any measures to stop the recruiting of British mercenaries.

Public pressure must be mounted to change British policy.
