BRITAIN AND SOUTHERN AFRICA

LOBBY FOR A FUNDAMENTAL CHANGE IN BRITISH POLICY

HOUSE OF COMMONS

TUESDAY 27th FEBRUARY 1990

There has "been no action to indicate that the new South African Government was prepared to dismantle the pillars of apartheid..."

Now is "not the time to consider any relaxation of existing sanctions and pressures. That would have to await evidence of clear and irreversible change."

The Kuala Lumpur Statment
Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting
October 1989

BRITAIN AND SOUTHERN AFRICA

LOBBY FOR A FUNDAMENTAL CHANGE OF POLICY

Britain should no longer stand out against the rest of the world in opposing measures to bring an end to apartheid.

This lobby provides an opportunity to get the message over to MPs and the government that Britain should be making a decisive contribution to the ending of apartheid.

For the first time there are encouraging signs of change in South Africa: some political prisoners have been released, some rallies have been allowed, Namibia is moving towards independence.

This has happened because of both mass opposition inside South Africa and pressure from outside. The British government acknowledged this by endorsing the Kuala Lumpur Statement.

It also acknowledged that the pillars of apartheid remain. If apartheid is to be abolished, pressure must be maintained on the South African government.

Come to the lobby and make your views known.

This is a chance to tell the government why you object to Britain's role in Southern Africa.

Complete this coupon to register. You will receive a ticket to one of the afternoon meetings at Westminster Central Hall, with speakers from South Africa and leading British politicians. There will be other events, including a religious service. Each constituency will send a delegation to their MP.

Return the coupon to SOUTHERN AFRICA COALITION, Inter-Church House, 35 Lower Marsh, London SE1 7RL (01-620 4444) (or to your constituency co-ordinator)
