The Journal of the Anti-Apartheid Movement News, views and facts about South and Southern Africa

This eight-page illustrated paper, appearing ten times a year, is the only printed journal in the world devoted to reporting on apartheid in South Africa, and on the campaigns waged against it both inside and outside the country. Arms embargoes, ruptures in trading and diplomatic relations, boycotts by sportsmen, filmstars and professors, meetings for education and action, demonstrations in sympathy with political prisoners — all these moves against apartheid, and more, make the columns of AA News regularly.

---

Contributors include:

Lord Brockway, James Cameron, Llew Gardner, Laura Grimond, George Melly, Adrian Mitchell, Ronald Segal and many South African experts

Anti-Apartheid News has been warmly welcomed by South African anti-apartheid organisations

International reaction to apartheid at the UN, and political and social developments in countries neighbouring South Africa are watched carefully by AA News correspondents

Articles on South Africa's land and education policies, the state of national health and welfare, as well as reports and analyses of political developments, form a counter to the glossy view of the South African scene presented by the many pro-apartheid magazines and advertisements
