In the Ciskei - the so-called "independent" Bantustan in South Africa, there is a reign of terror which is horrific even by the barbaric standards of apartheid.

In July the Ciskei authorities announced that bus fares were to be increased by 11%. Unable to afford the increase, the people decided to organise a boycott of the buses even though this meant for many a walk of several miles to the railway station. In an attempt to crush the boycott, the Bantustan regime embarked upon a brutal programme of repression.

- * At least 90 people have been killed, and hundreds injured, in police shootings.
- * Over 800 people have been detained; the jails are so full that people were taken to a soccer stadium. There are detailed reports of torture, rape and beatings.
- * Amongst the detainees are at least 15 leading trade unionists, including Sisa Njikelana, Vice-President of SAAWU (South African Allied Workers Union).
- * The Secretary of the Southern Africa Catholic Bishops Conference, Father Mkhathswa, was detained on 31st October.
- * SAAWU has been banned in the Ciskei.
